Jack:

Per our telecon yesterday, attached is subject historical volume for your disposition.

We have some doubts as to the appropriateness of including the reference to Senator Joseph McCarthy, with the implication that he was an authority on security, in an Agency history (see p. 14), especially as the example of his philosophy tends to negate the point being made on the previous page. On page 16, we doubt that the compromise suggested would cause irreparable damage to the Agency. We think there is a typographical error on page 70 and that the word plan should be play. Similarly, on page 80, we think the word singular should be single.

Other than these few points, we have no problems with what is basically a well-written, well-researched and interesting history. A
